Information for health teams

From the NHS team behind the innovative messaging platform, ChatHealth – our family of award-winning health information websites are transforming the way that children, young people and parents can learn about their health.

- Packed full of high-quality age-appropriate national content.
- NHS Trusts and Local Authorities can add value with a unique, localised experience.
- Co-designed with children, young people, parent/carers and NHS experts.

Come and be part of the 'Health for' websites community and you can cost-effectively control and manage your own local areas for the communities you serve.

Health for Teens

From content to videos, listicles, quizzes, health information, truths and rumours!

With seven different sections ranging from: Feelings, Health, Lifestyle, Relationships, Growing up and Your area.
